

Examination of the courts' jurisprudence in respect of measures restricting personal liberty

In December 2015, with regard to section 29, subsection (1) of Act no. CLXL of 2011 on the Organisation and Administration of the Courts, the President of the Curia decided to set up a jurisprudence-analysing working group on measures restricting personal liberty.

The working group's research focuses on criminal cases that were lodged in 2014 and 2015 and in which decisions on measures restricting personal liberty were given.

The working group aims to examine the following topics:

- I. Restrictive measures ordered during the investigation
- II. Restrictive measures ordered during court proceedings after the indictment
- III. Decisions to prolong and uphold restrictive measures

The working group intends to analyse in particular the judicial authorities' practice in ordering, prolonging and reviewing restrictive measures both prior to and after the indictment on the basis of statistical data and with the aim of establishing whether their practice is in line with the changed legislative background.

Dr. Róza Mészár
Head of the jurisprudence-analysing working group
Judge, Head of Panel at the Criminal Department of the Curia of Hungary